JOIN US FOR A MORNING OF FUN

If you've got some bored kids at home, then make sure you drop them off at the CRC this Thursday. We are looking forward to having a fun morning of activities.

Starting off with painting a spot on our message sticks. This is a creative way to mark your connection to Kalannie through a design that represents you and your family.

We begin the design with a recreation of how Indigenous people show each member of their family sitting around a fire. Then it is completely up to you what else you would like to paint. Maybe your favourite animal, bird or family pet? Do you have a favourite colour or flower? Or you can even leave your handprint.

After our art activity we will be getting active with a variety of indoor sports to play and some games like connect 4 and dominoes. Followed by morning tea.

If you have yet to register for our school holiday activities, you still have time!

We also still have plenty of places available for our upcoming Protective Behaviours workshop. Being run by the WA Child Protection Society.

A great opportunity for both parents and grandparents to take part in an important subject helping to keep children safe.

So please get in touch with the CRC to register your name kalanniecrc@kalannie.com.au or phone 9666 2194

Kalannie MESSAGE STICKS

School Holiday ART ACTIVITY

Thurs 29th January

(9.30am - 1.30pm)

The Kalannie community are invited to decorate a section of the bush poles erected across from the CRC in the main street.

Ideas for designs should consider inclusion of symbols and forms that represent you and/or your family.

- in the picture above each “U” shape represents a person sitting around a fire
  - how many in your family?
  - what about pets?
  - what about grandparents, aunties/uncles/cousins, close family friends (that are like family to you). Will they be included in your circle or will they have a circle that represents them separate from yours?

You could also use totems to tell the story of you and your family.

- Are there places or things that you identify with that represent who you are, and your place in your family, friends, school or community?
  - hobbies, sport, work
  - do you love bushwalking and flowers
  - do you play in a sports team
  - your house, car or farm.

Can you think of images of things that symbolise who you and your family are? If you had to tell a story about you and your family using pictures alone, what would that story or design look like?

Kalannie Memorial Wall

The Kalannie CRC is expecting the installation of the stone plaque wall to be completed in the first half of the year. This will be located alongside the current memorial wall cut out, to accompany the online memorials.

If you would like to add family members to the plaque wall, please fill in the form on the following page and email it through to Oxter Services.

At the same time we've been producing incomparable Australian eucalyptus oils, we've also been building our position as a global leader in sustainable agricultural carbon sequestration.

Now, operating as Fasera, we produce carbon credits, biochar, wood vinegar and eucalyptus oil via our carefully selected and managed estates of oil mallee trees on land owned by local farmers. Whilst we are changing and expanding, our roots remain firmly in Kalannie, the wheatbelt and Western Australia.

The material fact of the matter when it comes to buying a home

Buying a home is a big decision often tied to a lot of emotion. You might fall in love with the spacious kitchen, picture summer barbecues with friends in the lush backyard, or imagine raising kids in the friendly, quiet neighbourhood. But beyond what you can see at the home open, there may be things about the property that aren't so obvious and could influence your decision to buy.

These are known as material facts.

In Western Australia, real estate agents must make every effort to find out and pass on information that could influence a buyer's decision. This is part of the industry's Code of Conduct and your friend, the Australian Consumer Law, also makes it illegal to mislead or deceive, including by leaving important information out.

So what exactly is a material fact? There's no fixed definition, but generally it's anything that would matter to a reasonable person deciding whether to buy or how much to offer for a property.

Material facts can include things like unapproved structures, non-visible structural damage, asbestos, past use of the property that could affect health (such as a drug lab), access issues, or significant changes planned nearby - think major road projects, high-rise developments or airport expansions. In some cases, psychological stigma attached to the property could be considered material if it would likely affect a reasonable buyer's decision. This could be a serious crime, such as a murder, occurring in the house.

While WA does not require sellers to fill out a form called a 'Seller Disclosure Statement', that doesn't mean buyers are on their own. Sellers are still expected to disclose material facts to their agent, and agents must pass that information on. Importantly, if you ask a direct question, the agent must answer honestly and tell you about any relevant facts they're aware of or make every effort to find out.

This is why asking the right questions matters. Before making an offer, you should raise any concerns you have and specifically ask for a Seller Disclosure Statement. You can also make your own enquiries, such as checking building approvals, reviewing available reports from Landgate, or seeking professional inspections.

If a failure to disclose material facts leads to financial loss or other damage, you may be able to take civil action or ask to terminate the contract. Consumer Protection can also investigate complaints where an agent may have breached their legal obligations to disclose material facts.

The bottom line for WA home buyers is simple: don't assume "no news is good news". Ask questions early, get information in writing, and even though real estate agents are acting in the best interest of the seller, they still have a legal obligation to you when it comes to material facts.

TIPS TO ENJOY A HEART-HEALTHY EATING PATTERN

1

2

3

4

5

We hope you enjoy our new collection of heart-healthy 30 minute or less recipes. Heart-healthy Eating Patterns are based on a combination of foods, chosen regularly, over time.

This optimal combination is outlined in our Heart-healthy Eating Patterns which encourage people to eat:

- 1 Plenty of fruit, vegetables and wholegrain cereals.
- 2 Healthy proteins especially fish, seafood, legumes, nuts and seeds with smaller amounts of eggs and lean poultry. Limit lean red meat to 1-3 times a week.
- 3 Unflavoured milk, yoghurt and cheese. Those with high blood cholesterol should choose reduced fat varieties.
- 4 Healthy fat choices with nuts, seeds, avocados, olives and their oils for cooking.
- 5 Herbs and spices to flavour foods, instead of adding salt.

HOW TO USE THE HEART-HEALTHY EATING PATTERN

- Aim for 5 servings of vegetables a day. To help meet this goal fill half the main meal plate with vegetables, use as snacks, add to salads, soups and casseroles.
- Incorporate fresh fruit and unflavoured yoghurt into breakfast, snacks or dessert.
- Go for wholegrains. Replace white bread, and rice with seeded breads, brown rice and high fibre breakfast cereals.
- Include fish and seafood two to three times per week.
- Eat more legumes like lentils, chickpeas and beans. Use dried and cooked or canned varieties either alone or added to meat dishes to reduce the amount of meat.
- Try introducing at least one meat-free day a week and limit red meat to 1-3 times per week.
- Trim fat off meat, remove skin from chicken and avoid processed meat (like sausages, ham and salami).
- Cook with oils like olive, canola, avocado, peanut and sunflower oil.
- Add a sprinkle of unsalted nuts and seeds to your breakfast, salads and stir-fry's or enjoy a small handful as a snack.
- Flavour foods with herbs and spices, instead of salt.

Rural Aid Article by Roger Hitchcock

Firstly happy New Year everyone.

Winston Churchill is quoted as saying 'Attitude is a little thing that makes a big difference'. Attitudes towards life, challenges and beliefs held can be altered and, in some cases, should be altered to reflect what is happening at that moment. But usually aren't.

Our attitudes are influenced by our beliefs. Our beliefs stem from observing our world from the time we can walk. What we hear and see result in ourselves adapting to our own attitudes to conform, fit in. We accept this attitude is the correct way to react so we meet our perceived expectations of who we should be. What society says is right. So often this is at the expense of who we really are. We accept these learnt behaviours and when we are in a challenging situation we react accordingly.

Learnt behaviours are shaped from the past generations, societal beliefs, family values and what our Culture we are born into expect. Some behaviours are important so that we treat each other with respect and in a morally acceptable manner. But not all learnt behaviours historically perceived as correct are correct. The idea that we learn from an early age, especially as young boys, what a 'real man' is has resulted in a silent crisis, an instilled belief that to speak about strong emotions is a weakness. Nothing could be further from the truth but as an auto pilot response it is rarely challenged by the individual. This is not unique to men, women also are wired by their own personal learnt behaviours, and some do the same.

Learnt automatic response or beliefs can be challenged and the attitude, we take changed. We can all be agents of change. Asking for help when not feeling OK should be an automatic accepted reaction. Not something to fear judgement from. Changing our attitude that asking for help takes strength. Asking RUOK also takes strength. Openly encouraging others to seek help sets a very positive example to others. We can be a part of breaking down the stigma one person at a time by setting an example displaying and encouraging a more accurate belief and attitude.

If a new attitude is adapted now and that small child sees hears and learns that asking for help is being strong then the learnt attitude becomes an automatic way to respond. We each can start this change today changing the crisis of silence, breaking down the stigma one person at a time our attitude making a big difference.

MENTAL HEALTH AND WELLBEING TIPS:

GET ENOUGH SLEEP AND REST

Sleep affects our physical and mental health and can be the first thing we trade in when we get busy or stressed.

SCHEDULE TIME FOR THINGS YOU ENJOY

Balance in life is important, so taking time out for things you enjoy can make a difference to how you think and feel.

BE ACTIVE AND EAT WELL

Our physical and mental health are closely linked, so ensure that you are exercising and eating nutritious food.

NURTURE RELATIONSHIPS AND CONNECT WITH OTHERS

Our connection to others is what keeps us strong, especially during challenging times. Ensure you have people to connect with (face-to-face, over the phone or virtually).

ENSURE YOU ARE ADOPTING STRATEGIES TO MANAGE YOUR STRESS LEVELS

If you have are having trouble relaxing or managing intrusive thoughts, the websites below provide an array of tips and tools that can assist you.

MAKE A 'TASKS LIST'

Break large tasks into smaller, more manageable tasks which can be prioritised in order of importance.

FOCUS ON WHAT YOU CAN CONTROL

Direct your time, energy, and resources towards things you have direct influence over, rather than things outside of your control (weather/climate, government regulations, commodity markets).

BRING OTHERS TO THE TABLE

Another set of ears and a logical brain can help with processing and retaining information.

KEEP THE LINES OF COMMUNICATION OPEN

Schedule regular farm business meetings and don't avoid making decisions.

KEEP IN REGULAR CONTACT WITH INDUSTRY PEERS, GROWER GROUPS AND CONSULTANTS

They are sources of trusted and valuable information and can also be a good social connection.

PREPARE AND PLAN FOR THE UNEXPECTED

Contingency planning can avoid further stress.

BE AWARE OF THE RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH BEHAVIOURS OR COPING STRATEGIES THAT ARE UNSAFE AND PUT YOURSELF AND OTHERS AT RISK

Unsafe alcohol consumption, misuse of prescription medication and use of illicit drugs.

TAKE TIME TO PAUSE, BREATHE AND REFLECT

A simple moment of reflection helps us connect our minds with our feelings. It enables us to connect what's happening around us with what's going on in our heads and hearts. Taking the time to ask the right questions of ourselves, and time to get a thoughtful answer, gives us perspective, direction and clarity. By taking time to pause and slow down our breathing (deep circular breaths), we slow down a racing heart, reducing the symptoms of stress headaches and muscle tension.

PARTAKE IN HELP SEEKING BEHAVIOURS

Please see below for information on Support Services and Helplines available.

ORGANISE AN INFORMATION SESSION OR WORKSHOP:

Increasing your own and others understanding of the risks, protective factors, unsafe/risky behaviours, coping strategies, wellbeing, and community resilience is a powerful tool in improving empathy, connections and the overall safety within a community. Please contact Holyoake's Prevention Team if you would like to organise an information session or workshop for your community.
